Science Xpression Workshop (26- 28 September) is recommended for graduate/PhD students and postdocs. This workshop has three primary goals: (1) to practice giving oral presentations, (2) to practice writing abstracts that describe research interests and progress and (3) to develop communication skills. Through this process, participants will broaden their scientific horizons and enhance their ability to give presentations, write abstracts, and respond to questions and comments from others. For registration and more information: <http://www.gapjunctionconference2016.com/Registration.html>
